Q Justify the title, 'Lost spring - stories of stolen childhood'?

Ans The lives of Sahel and Mukesh are being said to be stolen childhood. Childhood here ~~(to be)~~ is being said to be stolen childhood. Spring, which is like the most pleasant season of the year. Similarly, childhood ~~(is)~~ is also one of the best part of a man's life. Man can do anything ~~(if)~~ they want during this period, they are carefree and do not ~~(need)~~ need to do anything for survival. All they have to do is eat, sleep, play and go to school.

In the story we can see the two young boys, Sahel and Mukesh have not experienced childhood as they are being born in a very poor family and have to work very ~~(Examination Distraction Bo)~~ hard for survival. Their dreams are very easy to live in, in our eyes. But in theirs, it is very hard as they do not have money to even ~~survive~~ and forget about living their dreams. These two young boys have never experienced what original childhood ~~(is)~~ is as they are in the web of poverty.
